

Ecumenical Liturgy for the Victims of the Bushfires

Matthew 5: 4

Then Jesus began to speak, and taught them, saying:
“Blessed are those who mourn, for they will be comforted.”

Liturgy prepared by Michael Hansen, Director of Faith & Ministry, Lavalla Catholic College, Traralgon, Vic.
and Sophy Morley, Diocesan Coordinator for Liturgy, Diocese of Sale, Victoria.

RITUAL OUTLINE

Our prayers of sadness and grief are always tempered by the hope that we are given as a Christian people. Death is not the end, but a doorway to a new existence. The consolation and love promised us by Jesus is a beacon of hope to all those who suffer.

Invite all people of good will to join in an ecumenical liturgy to pray together to the Lord for comfort and consolation.

PREPARING THE SACRED SPACE

Select from the following to create a sacred space for prayer - always include the Cross and a candle

- Cross, Bible and Candle(s)
- Decorative cloth, gel or oil burner, incense, flowers, bowl of sand with tapers or bowl of water with flower petals, basket of flowers, photographs, personal memorabilia, basket for cards /cut-out paper hearts, pens, music (CD, cassette, live music - singers/musicians)
- For smaller groups, arrange the prayer sheets in a wide circle around the prayer focus
- Have a box or two of tissues handy
- Full order of service for Presiders/ prayer sheets for the assembly.

HOSPITALITY

- Consider ways in which you can publicise this event in your community: parish bulletin and school bulletins (both government and Catholic; local Christian churches, radio & newspaper announcements, flyers left with local businesses, email etc.
- Ensure that you have welcomers at the church doors, ready to greet people, hand them orders of service and whatever else they may need and to usher them in.
- Remember that some participants may not be used to being in church and that religious ritual may be daunting for them. Others, although Christian, may not have been inside a Catholic church before. Please welcome all as honoured guests.
- You may wish to provide some light refreshment at the end of the liturgy. This is often a good time for people to debrief, share each other's company and meet others for the first time.

Ecumenical Liturgy for the Victims of the Bushfires

Call to Prayer

Leader: Out of our shock and fear

All: We cry to you, O Lord

Leader: Out of our disbelief and denial

All: We cry to you, O Lord

Leader: Out of our grief and sadness

All: We cry to you, O Lord

God of our hearts,

We are heavy with sadness at the tragedy that has befallen so many people.....

Our minds struggle to come to terms with the horror of these past few days.....

Our hearts are like stones in our chests,

as we mourn the dead and stand in solidarity with the survivors.....

Lord, where is the joy, peace, hope and safety that you promised?

Have you forgotten us, Lord?

Silence

Opening Prayer:

Leader: "Protect me, O God, for in you I take refuge." (Psalm 16:1)

God of the mountains and the forests, the awesome power of nature can be both a wonder as well as a source of tragedy. We cry out to you in this time of great need to the people affected by the wild fires in our State.

Almighty and everlasting God, comfort of the sad and source of strength to those who suffer: Let the prayers of your children who are in trouble rise to you. We lift up to you the people of Callignee, Balook, Jeeralang, Koornalla, Hazelwood and Churchill We also remember the families at King Lake, Flowerdale, Hazeldene, Taggerty, Narbethong, Marysville, Steel's Creek, Yarra Glen, St Andrews, Arthurs Creek, Strathewen, Hurneville Wandong, Bunyip, Eaglehawk, Long Gully, Horsham, Corryong and Healesville ... (here name places of concern) and in all the places where wild fire has taken its toll.

For those who have lost loved ones, grant your peace; for those who have lost homes, property, livelihood and livestock, grant your resilience; for those who seek shelter and food, grant your comfort; for those suffering terrible burns, grant your healing; for those whose lives have been shattered, grant your strength; for those who have lost everything, grant that we may be their hope.

God of wisdom and strength, guide the hands of those who provide emergency relief. We entrust to you those who fight against the power of the flames, those who care for the bereaved, those with the gift of healing, those who carry the burdens of moving debris, and those who distribute much needed supplies. Give them the endurance that is needed to continue their good works.

God of all consolation, in the midst of things we shudder to think about, tragedy of historic proportions, and grieving too heavy to bear, grant your peace. This is a time when we welcome your Word of hope born into our world. May that hope settle in our hearts. We ask this through Jesus Christ our comforter and consoler.

All: Amen

Opening Responses ¹

Come among us God of our hearts:

You, who cast the forests in the ranges
and cradle the blue wren in her nest

AII: COME GOD AND MEET US HERE

Come among us God of our hearts:

You, who bless the poor and the broken
and stand by the sad and the lost

AII: COME GOD AND MEET US HERE

Come among us God of our hearts:

You, who dance in the silence
and shine in the darkest night

AII: COME GOD AND MEET US HERE

Come among us God of our hearts:

You, who comforted Mary's broken heart
at the foot of the cross.

AII: COME GOD AND MEET US HERE

Come among us God of our hearts:

You, who knows the deep numbness
felt by those pushed beyond their limits.

AII: COME GOD AND MEET US HERE

LITURGY OF THE WORD

First Reading

OPTION 1: Job 7:1-4, 6-7. ²

A reading from the book of Job

I am filled with sorrow all day long.

Job began to speak:

Is not man's life on earth nothing more than pressed service,
his time no better than hired drudgery?

Like the slave, sighing for the shade,

or the workman with no thought but his wages,
months of delusion I have assigned to me,
nothing for my own but nights of grief.
Lying in bed I wonder, 'When will it be day?'
Risen I think, 'How slowly evening comes!'
Restlessly I fret till twilight falls.
Swifter than a weaver's shuttle my days have passed,
and vanished, leaving no hope behind.
Remember that my life is but a breath,
and that my eyes will never again see joy.

The word of the Lord.

All: Thanks be to God.

OPTION 2: Lamentations 3:17-26

A reading from the book of Lamentations

It is good to wait in silence for the Lord to save.

My soul is shut out from peace;
I have forgotten happiness.
And now I say, 'My strength is gone,
that hope which came from the Lord'.
Brooding on my anguish and affliction
is gall and wormwood.
My spirit ponders it continually
and sinks within me.
This is what I shall tell my heart,
and so recover hope:
the favours of the Lord are not all
past,
his kindnesses are not exhausted;
every morning they are renewed;
great is his faithfulness.
'My portion is the Lord' says my soul
'and so I will hope in him.'
The Lord is good to those who trust him,
to the soul that searches for him.
It is good to wait in silence
for the Lord to save.

The word of the Lord. ³

GOSPEL

A reading from the holy Gospel according to Matthew (Mt 11:25-30)

Jesus exclaimed, 'I bless you, Father, Lord of heaven and of earth, for hiding these things from the learned and the clever and revealing them to mere children. Yes, Father, for that is what it pleased you to do. Everything has been entrusted to me by my Father; and no one knows the Son except the Father, just as no one knows the Father except the Son and those to whom the Son chooses to reveal him.'

'Come to me, all you who labour and are overburdened, and I will give you rest. Shoulder my yoke and learn from me, for I am gentle and humble in heart, and you will find rest for your souls. Yes, my yoke is easy and my burden light.'

The Gospel of the Lord!

All: Praise to you, Lord Jesus Christ!

Reflection on the Gospel ¹⁰

Once again this week, as people of faith, we are moved to try and make sense of the terrible bushfires that have ravaged our State.

Some things that happen are easy for us to understand. Losing a part time job, breaking our leg in a motor bike fall, the death of a grandparent... these events, though hard, are reasonable, logical and even natural in a way. They can be studied and known, and their affects can also be analysed so that we can learn how to adapt to, and cope with them ever more effectively.

But, as people of faith, we acknowledge that tragic events happen for no apparent reason (the earth's plates move in an earthquake, cells mutate and multiply and become cancerous, nature itself seems to turn against us in floods and fire... untimely death is all around us). But it is our response to these events, our compassion and an ever expanding sense of belonging to the human family - that identifies us as authentic people of faith.

What we know from the Scriptures is that God does have favorites – the poor, the marginalized and the most vulnerable are always and everywhere preferred by God and preferred by Jesus. And so our faith, our sense of belonging to the Church and to the human family, moves us to demonstrate God's love for the poorest of the poor, those pushed to the brink. And we do this through our generous giving of ourselves and our deep solidarity with their pain.

Our generosity to those we know who have been affected by the fires is making a difference today and will continue to make a difference in the coming weeks and months as the emphasis in the work shifts from intense crisis to more long term reconstruction and rehabilitation.

Each of us can make a difference, through our financial generosity or through our tenderness towards those whom we know have been affected. We can keep the fire fighters in our prayers and be gentle with ourselves as we come to terms with what has happened.

Together and with God's help, we can make the burden easier.
